Dear Shareholders

I am having the privilege of working with the MetrioPharm AG team for a few weeks now. It appears to me that I was already able to put down significant roots. I enjoy working with dedicated and highly professional people, who are as eager as I am, to take the development of MP1032 to the next level.

Many investors have been inquiring about the next steps and a possible IPO. I think that MetrioPharm AG is well prepared: We have a pipeline and have also proven that we can produce outstanding clinical work within promising indications. We were also able to put a solid long-term action plan in place, that should ultimately support the commercialization of our compound MP1032. As with everything in life, the timing must be right, and the preparation for it needs to be all-encompassing. Relying on our very capable team, I think we are ready to tackle the future.

I would like to take the opportunity once more to thank all our investors for their long-standing support and their willingness to accompany us on this very exciting journey.

Yours sincerely

Sven Zimmermann

Chief Financial Officer
